

As a resident of Indiana and a participant in the Indiana No-Call List, I wish to implore you to not allow the CBA to make calls to it's current customers. Attorney General Steve Carter did the residents of Indiana a great justice by enacting the Indiana No-Call list. It would be a severe injustice to allow unwanted phone calls, specifically to those who have opted to not be called.

In my personal opinion, unwanted, soliciting phone calls are a form of harassment and should be treated as such. Why is it that I can post a "No Soliciting" sign on my home, to not be bothered in that way, yet I cannot put a "No Soliciting" sign on my phone?

I have faith in the FCC's capability to make the correct decision; in this case, not allowing the CBA to make phone calls to those who have specifically requested to not receive them.

Thank you for allowing me to give my thoughts. Your consideration of my thoughts are greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Cheryl Baber
